WHAT A YEAR

Thank you to all of our donors who have given so generously this year to UnitingWorld. Your support has helped our partner churches to continue their life changing work.

You have partnered with UnitingWorld in so many different ways through the past year, in one-off gifts, in bequests, in spreading the message in your local church, in volunteering with our partners overseas and praying for the work of our partners and the communities they serve. We are so thankful for the role you have played in transforming communities and in working towards a world free from poverty and injustice. Thank you for playing your part!

MESSAGE FROM OUR CHAIR

Having been a National Committee member since 2006 this last year represented my first full year as Chair of the UnitingWorld Relief and Development National Committee, a position that is a privilege and also a responsibility to hold.

I feel fortunate to be able to engage in the work of UnitingWorld Relief and Development at many different and varied levels and vantage points. From being involved with donors in our generous and supportive Uniting Church congregations, to our committed and valuable staff in the Sydney office, to our experienced and diligent board members, all the way through to our hard working and supportive partners in the countries and programs we support, it is a joy to be able to see the work of UnitingWorld in all of its many facets.

As we look to the future we have some exciting opportunities and challenges before us for the next twelve months and beyond. Significant time and effort will be invested in the renewing of our Strategic Plan and also meeting the requirements of accreditation with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade. Each of these issues will plot a path forward for us for the next five years.

Reflecting on the last twelve months I need to take this opportunity to thank all of the members of the National Committee who serve in the roles they fill. I also need to acknowledge the efforts of recently retired National Committee members and especially the many years of leadership, insight and wisdom that both Malcolm Gledhill and Ted Woodley have provided to the National Committee. Their contribution has been immense and their legacy of leadership will live on.

We also take this opportunity to thank Rob Floyd and his staff for the time, effort and investment of themselves that they give to the work of the Unit. We are very fortunate with the high quality team we have working for UnitingWorld and it gives the National Committee and I a great deal of energy, enthusiasm and optimism for the future as we all work and serve our partners together.

I commend the Annual Report to your reading and ask for your ongoing support.

MESSAGE FROM OUR DIRECTOR

During the last year UnitingWorld Relief and Development needed to call again upon the generosity of our Uniting Church supporters to assist us in responding to Cyclone Winston which devastated large parts of Fiji in February 2016. Our partner, the Methodist Church in Fiji, was quick to respond and UnitingWorld was pleased to provide funding for the immediate response and rebuilding.

This disaster, close on the heels of a similar cyclone in Vanuatu the year before, helped UnitingWorld to realise the need to develop our capacity to assist our partners, especially in the Pacific, to be better prepared for the disasters that are coming more frequently and with stronger intensity than ever before. UnitingWorld Relief and Development has invested in a staff position and developing policies and procedures to focus our work with our overseas partners in humanitarian responses when disasters strike and also in assisting their communities to be better prepared to survive major disasters should they happen again.

I am also delighted to note that this last year has seen significant growth in our work in gender equality and empowering women, especially in the Pacific. Working with our partners, the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade and our Australian donors, we have been able to grow the program and expand it across five Pacific Island nations.

Finally, working with our local partner Maha Bhoga Marga, we have opened a small office in Bali, Indonesia to better serve our partners in South East Asia. Our staff in Bali will assist our near neighbouring partners to share with and learn from each other, to develop stronger programs and to implement, monitor and evaluate our work more thoroughly and effectively.

I continue to be humbled by the care and concern you have shown to our partners and the work we undertake with them on your behalf. Your generous support continues to allow us to work with some of the poorest communities in the world. Thank you for your partnership with us in this important, transformative work.

Rob Floyd

OUR OVERSEAS PROGRAMS

The UnitingWorld Relief and Development Unit works alongside our overseas development partners to bring about sustainable change in communities experiencing poverty and injustice. For change to take place, local communities need to be resourced so that the underlying causes of poverty can be addressed. It is crucial that the most vulnerable become the priority. UnitingWorld believes that supporting local partners undertaking grass-roots projects is the best way to see long term change. We work alongside our partners in four main program areas- Education, Health, Economic Empowerment and Social Empowerment. Over the past year we have also provided emergency relief in response to a number of disasters.

EDUCATION

We believe that all children have the right to a quality education in their local community. We are committed to helping our partners train teachers and librarians, to making sure children are equipped with the resources they need to learn and to raising community awareness of the importance of education. Education is a key factor in promoting sustainable change in local communities.

PROJECT STORY • EDUCATING FOR CHANGE

Community Development Program, Diocese of Durgapur, Church of North India

Can you imagine denying these two bright six year olds a place in school?

That's what happened recently to Samar and Sayna* in West Bengal. The girls had been eagerly attending a local education support centre run by our partner the Church of North India and were looking forward to starting at the local primary school. However when their parents were unable to produce their birth certificates, they were denied enrollment. Samar and Sayna are part of the Dalit community, where record keeping is difficult. The Caste system is still very present in parts of India, and while it is illegal to discriminate against the Dalit community, the school was able to use the lack of birth certificates as a reason to exclude these girls.

Community Development workers, trained through our partner, the Church of North India were able to step in and advocate for the girls. On the basis of the project staff recommendation, both the girls have now been admitted to the local school, where they are enthusiastically attending full time.

Our partner, the Church of North India was able to work alongside the local community to see grass-roots change take place. Our hope is that all children in West Bengal will have the same opportunity that Samar and Sayna have been given.

ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT

Economic Empowerment is a crucial ingredient for seeing grassroots change in communities. By supporting income generating activities, financial services and financial literacy our partners seek to empower poor people to leave behind the cycle of poverty. Empowering families economically, can also lead to long term improvements in health and education.

MICROFINANCE • MARY AND HER LITTLE...GOATS

Mary lives in Muzarabani, Zimbabwe and is a member of one of the local goat rearing income generation groups.

When asked about the most significant change she has experienced as a result of her participation in the group Mary responded, "Ever since I joined the goat project my family has never lacked food and my children are attending school every term. I can now pay for their school fees and buy school stationery without any problems. My household income is now better. This change in my household livelihood started when I joined the goat project. I started to have a renewed mind and things became better."

The project began when UnitingWorld partner MeDRA identified the most vulnerable in the community through local community consultation. Those invited to participate in the group began by undertaking training in the REFLECT methodology which opened a new way of thinking. The group analysed their communities and identified the best small group business for their context. MeDRA then assisted the group to construct the necessary livestock shelters, supplied the initial livestock and feed, while also facilitating technical support in goat rearing and small business management.

Mary's group keep goats, care for them as they grow and then sell a proportion at market while ensuring good stock is retained for breeding purposes. "When we have done the sells, we calculate our gains and share equally among the group members the profits." All members of the group access an equal proportion of the profits regardless of gender, age or other factor.

"The change has brought peace in my life. I am a proud mother who can easily take care of my family without any major challenges. I have continuous income from the project," says Mary.

SOCIAL EMPOWERMENT

To make a lasting change to the lives of people living in poverty, issues of inequality, injustice and powerlessness must be addressed. The programs we support through our partners in the Pacific, Asia and Africa are engaging ethnic minorities, indigenous people, families, women and people with disabilities, to empower the powerless. Social empowerment can lead to real change as people are able to gain control over their lives now and into the future.

PARTNERING WOMEN FOR CHANGE IN THE PACIFIC

UnitingWorld's Partnering Women for Change (PW4C) Program is an innovative program that seeks to address gender inequality through working with churches. It challenges and transforms traditional views of gender and inequality by engaging with churches from a shared faith perspective and through long-term relationship. Gender Equality Theology (GET) is being shared with church leaders and communities. The PW4C program is empowering women through leadership, confidence building and economic independence. The positive and influential role that churches play in the Pacific is being used to break down gender barriers and engage in life changing dialogue with local communities. The ground breaking nature of the PW4C program has also been recognised by the Australian government, opening up more opportunities for funding into the future.

STORY OF CHANGE • PS SOPHIE BREAKING NEW GROUND IN VANUATU

On the small, remote Island of Ambrym in Vanuatu, UnitingWorld Partners the Presbyterian Women's Mission Union (PWMU) facilitate a Gender and Leadership workshop with the representatives from across all the communities on the Island as part of the Partnering Women for Change (PW4C) Program. In the region there was one female Pastor, Ps Sophie. Ps Sophie is one of a handful of female Ministers in the whole of the Presbyterian Church Vanuatu. The workshop raised awareness of violence against women and challenged the community to move towards gender equality by opening opportunities for women to hold roles of leadership within the church and community. At the end of the workshop, the regional presbytery met and elected Ps Sophie as their new leading Minister, nominated and seconded by two of the male church Ministers who attended the training. Ps Sophie is the first female Minister in the PCV to even hold a position of leadership at this level. In a training event with the PCV on the Gender Equality Theology facilitated earlier this year, Ps Sophie commented that she had been training women in her community in preaching and leadership and that the training that she had just received would support and enable her to plan and implement similar training in her communities, continuing to break ground in gender equality.

HEALTH, WATER AND SANITATION

Improving health conditions and access to sanitation is a key part of eliminating poverty in communities. UnitingWorld remains strongly committed to helping our partners work with their local communities to make this happen. Through the past year UnitingWorld has worked alongside our partners to increase access to quality, long term health care, train health care professionals, organise community led activities to raise awareness of the links between sanitation and health and to improve water supplies in remote communities.

STORY OF CHANGE ■ WASH CAMPAIGN

This year, our partners the United Church in Papua New Guinea worked with the International Water Centre to develop a Behaviour Change campaign based on handwashing with soap as the behaviour in focus. A local artist was engaged and four remote communities consulted in the process of creating the campaign that includes songs in local languages, posters and training. Behaviour Change as an approach is different to education alone as it seeks to attach health messages to triggers such as routines or daily habits and factors such as community leaders modelling the changes and reinforcing their importance.

The resource and accompanying toolkit was acknowledged as being a fresh and innovative approach at the International WASH Conference in Brisbane in May 2016. The roll out of the campaign has begun and will continue into next year. The hope is that through this campaign there will be a reduction in hygiene related illnesses that can be debilitating and have a significant impact on health.

EMERGENCY RELIEF

Over the past year UnitingWorld has assisted our partners support their local communities through a number of natural disasters and emergencies. We have significantly increased the way we have been able to respond to our partners needs through both the appointment of a new staff member to manage this area of our work, as well as through working more closely with other local partners and ACT alliance members. As well as helping our partners in the aftermath of disasters UnitingWorld is also assisting our partners to build their own capacity to respond.

CYCLONE WINSTON DEVASTATES FIJI

Category 5 Tropical Cyclone Winston cut a path of destruction across Fiji in February 2016. 43 people died and many more were injured. 62,000 people were displaced, needing shelter and assistance. UnitingWorld's goal was to assist our partner, the Methodist Church in Fiji, in providing them with initial resources for the emergency response, as well as longer term assistance to repair and rebuild damaged health, education and community facilities.

Some of the activities UnitingWorld has been able to assist with are:

- Providing tools and materials to re-establish subsistence livelihoods
- Appropriately disposing of cyclone debris
- Repairing and rebuilding schools and health clinics

$632, 839 has been raised through the Cyclone Winston Emergency Appeal

PARTNERSHIP ENGAGEMENT - BUILDING CAPACITY

In each way that UnitingWorld engages with our partners, we aim to build capacity. Our goal is for our partners to continually improve how they are able to serve their local communities. We are committed to improving the way we monitor and report throughout all our work as well as to improving the way our programs incorporate the key areas of child protection, human rights, and gender and disability inclusion.

A WIN FOR INCLUSION IN ZIMBABWE

UnitingWorld has continued to partner with Methodist Development and Relief Agency (MeDRA) in Zimbabwe. MeDRA is continuing to work with local communities to increase access to improved water sources and sanitation facilities in very remote areas. Through the support of our partnership, project staff at MeDRA participated in a four-day capacity building workshop, with a focus on report and proposal writing skills for local staff. Through this partnership, MeDRA has embraced an inclusive approach to all of their work. All aspects of projects now include disability friendly outcomes, such as the building of disabled toilets where needed and there is a greater than ever representation of women being involved in MeDRA's work.

EVALUATION – PROGRAM EFFECTIVENESS

We believe that ongoing monitoring and evaluation is crucial to the success of all our projects and partnerships. Over the past year, seven project evaluations have been undertaken;

- Mother and Child Support Service in Port Moresby
- PNG Church Partnership Program Phase 2
- Evaluation of United Church PNG systems and processes
- Vanuatu Church Partnership Program
- South Sudan Midwives Training Program
- DeafLink in Sri Lanka
- Beyond Barriers in Sri Lanka

BUILDING OUR PARTNERS' CAPACITY

We are a partner driven agency. It is our partners that know their local communities the best; they have the best understanding of local issues, have the trust of the local people and know what is most needed. By building our partners capacity we firmly believe that the impact for marginalised communities can be maximised. Some of the ways this has happened is by:

- A Regional Partners' workshop was held in Durgapur, India in March 2016. Partner churches have reported that as a result of the workshops there is an increased understanding of the importance of child protection and inclusion policies, as well as increased project management skills
- Four regional learning and networking events in Fiji and Sri Lanka, as UnitingWorld increases its focus on working regionally with our partners

ENGAGING AUSTRALIAN COMMUNITIES

Through growing engagement and support UnitingWorld is empowering Australian communities and people within the Uniting Church especially, to be effective global partners in the fight against poverty, injustice and inequality. Through building relationships and facilitating opportunities for learning we hope to encourage people to think about how they can respond as people of faith to our partners overseas and the communities in which they work.

This year:

- 355 congregations participated in Lent Event 2016
- 1,516 people participated in Lent Event 2016
- $292,630.30 was raised for the work of UnitingWorld through Lent Event 2016
- Our Annual One World WonTok Youth Poverty and Development Conference reached 505 students from 45 church schools
- 120 church groups held gift stalls in the lead up to Christmas
- Staff and partners shared the work of UnitingWorld at more than 60 speaking events
- A nine year old UnitingWorld supporter raised over $2,500 to purchase four wells in Zimbabwe and was interviewed on Channel 10's 'The Project'

FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

The financial year July 2015 to June 2016 was another strong result for UnitingWorld Relief and Development.

We were pleased to see that our partnership with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) remains strong, and our DFAT funding grew in this financial year with support for a new initiative in the Pacific addressing violence against women and gender equality.

Donations from our Australian constituency remained strong. As in the previous year when we responded to Cyclone Pam in Vanuatu and the Nepal Earthquake, our humanitarian response to Cyclone Winston in Fiji saw us receive very significant support from our donors.

We continue to be most grateful to our supporters for their generous donations to our work, including those who have graciously chosen to provide for our overseas partners and programs through their estate planning.

The Relief and Development Unit endeavours to be accountable and transparent in its reporting of how we expend the funds we receive. Total direct expenditure on overseas programs was 86.3% of all expenditure for the year. A small increase in program support costs was incurred because UnitingWorld has now opened two small offices, one in the Pacific and one in South East Asia to better support our partners, provide capacity building for them and assist in monitoring their work.

We spent almost $86,000 on education in Australia, a significant proportion of which involves working with schools and other Uniting Church groups to help them become more aware of the world in which they live. We help students understand the realities of poverty, injustice and inequality and the ways we can assist communities across the world to enjoy a higher quality of life.

The balance of our expenditure, $0.76 million funded our other organisational costs.

This year the Unit has further strengthened its staffing to improve our monitoring and evaluation of our work as well as to assist us in preparing for our DFAT re-accreditation in 2017.

Report of the Independent Auditor on the UWRD Summary Report to the National Committee of UnitingWorld Relief and Development and the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade

The accompanying UWRD Summary Report (stamped for identification purposes), prepared by UnitingWorld Relief and Development, which comprises the statement of financial position as at 30 June 2016, and the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and table of cash movements for designated purposes for the period ended 30 June 2016 is derived from the General Purpose Financial Report – Reduced Disclosure Requirements of UnitingWorld Relief and Development for the period ended 30 June 2016. We expressed an unqualified auditor's opinion on that financial report in our auditor's report dated 27 September 2016. The financial report and the UWRD Summary Report do not reflect the effects of events that occurred subsequent to the date of our report on that financial report.

The UWRD Summary Report does not contain all the disclosures required by the Australian Accounting Standards. Reading the UWRD Summary Report, therefore, is not a substitute for reading the audited financial report of UnitingWorld Relief and Development.

The National Committee's Responsibility for the financial information

The National Committee of UnitingWorld Relief and Development are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the UWRD Summary Report in accordance with the requirements of the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade.

Auditor's Responsibility

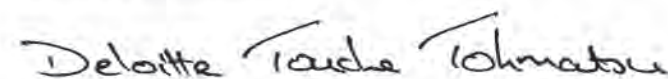

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the UWRD Summary Report based on our procedures, which were conducted in accordance with Auditing Standard ASA 810 Engagements to Report on Summary Financial Statements.

Opinion

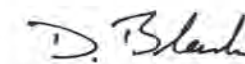

In our opinion, the UWRD Summary Report derived from the audited financial report of UnitingWorld Relief and Development for the period ended 30 June 2016 is consistent, in all material respects, with that audited financial report.

Basis of Accounting and Restriction on Distribution and Use

Without modifying our opinion, we draw attention to the fact that the UWRD Summary Report has been prepared to satisfy information requirements of the National Committee of UnitingWorld Relief and Development and the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade. As a result, the UWRD Summary Report may not be suitable for another purpose. Our report is intended solely for Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade and the National Committee of UnitingWorld Relief and Development and should not be distributed to or used by parties other than the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade or the National Committee of UnitingWorld Relief and Development.
